

Elements of a Story

Setting is where the story takes place (for example, a classroom, a house, the forest).

Characters are the people or animals in a story (for example, the gingerbread man, the fox).

The problem is something that goes wrong in a story (for example, the fox eats the gingerbread man).

The solution is how the characters solve the problem (for example, the old woman bakes a new gingerbread man).